DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 3, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Meier.

Meier discloses a circuit breaker characterized by comprising a pair of stationary contactors 9 which are disposed in opposition to each other and each of which is provided with a stationary contact 8, a movable contactor 6 which includes a pair of movable contacts 7 respectively disposed in opposition to the stationary contacts and which is capable of bridging both said stationary contactors, a switching mechanism section 3 which operates when an overcurrent has flowed through said stationary contactors, a crossbar 11 which is engaged with a substantially central part of said movable contactor from a side of said stationary contactors and which separates said movable contactor from said stationary contactors upon the operation of said switching mechanism section (fig. 3), a contact pressure spring 12 which is engaged with said crossbar at one end and with the substantially central part of said movable contactor at the other end and which urges said movable contactor toward said stationary contactors, and arc extinction chambers 5 which are respectively disposed near both end parts of said movable contactor and which extinguish an arc struck at the separation of said movable contactor from said stationary contactors, characterized in that said crossbar includes a depression portion 10 which extends onto a side of said movable contactor and which depresses said movable contactor in engagement with substantially the central part of said movable contactor, and that an accommodation portion which accommodates said contact pressure spring therein is provided in said depression portion, characterized by comprising a link 20 which interlocks with said switching mechanism section, and a slot which is provided in said crossbar, and that said link and said crossbar are engaged through a pin 18 which is snugly inserted into said slot.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 2, 4-8, and 10-12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 11/9/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant alleges Meier fails to disclose "a crossbar which is engaged with a substantially central part of said movable contactor from a side of said stationary contactors." The examiner deems this condition is shown in figs. 3 and 4 where it appears that the movable contactor 6 is engaged on opposite sides by the crossbar 11.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
